

Cascade Creek

Cascade Creek is a small stream that runs through the City of Erie. It is tubed through part of the City. Cascade Creek empties into Presque Isle Bay just west of the Niagara Pier condominiums. Cascade Creek is stocked with trout during the regular trout season. It is stocked from its mouth, through Frontier Park, to just south of West 8th Street.

The creek can be accessed from Frontier Park, between West 6th Street and West 8th Street in Erie. There is also public parking for up to 50 cars in a paved parking lot beside the lower part of the creek, off the Bayfront Highway just south of the Niagara Pier condominiums. Park just to the south of the small administration office for the condominiums. To access the lower regions of this creek, walk over the wooden bridge, then north along Cascade Creek to its mouth at the Bay.
