with remarks by PHRC Executive Director

About this program

"I love it when people ask me, 'John Quiñones, you're Mexican-American, when did your family come over from Mexico?'" With his signature warmth, John responds that his family has been in Texas for seven generations. "The Quiñones family never crossed the border. The border crossed us!" In this uplifting presentation, John views a greater, stronger America built upon our dynamic cultural diversity. With a call to "build bridges, not walls," he celebrates our differences as a powerful force and a proud part of our shared American character.
