No. 1653

MILK HAULERS ARE NOT EXEMPT FROM WEATHER-RELATED COMMERCIAL TRAVEL BANS

Milk haulers are not exempt from weather-related commercial travel bans in Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania State Senate passed legislation during its last session that would allow licensed milk haulers to transport milk on highways during weather-related commercial travel bans. The legislation was not passed by the State House of Representatives, so it was not enacted.

To become law, the legislation will have to be re-introduced in the current legislative session. If you have any questions or comments regarding this potential legislation, please contact your legislators.
